Los Alamos Biosafety committee will hold meeting June 10

June 5, 2008

LOS ALAMOS, New Mexico, June 5, 2008—Los Alamos National Laboratory's Institutional Biosafety Committee will hold its quarterly meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday, June 10, in meeting room 2 of Mesa Public Library on Central Avenue in downtown Los Alamos.

Three applications for research will be reviewed. The meeting is open to the public.

The Los Alamos Institutional Biosafety Committee is responsible for reviewing and approving all proposals, activities, and experiments involving an organism or product of an organism that presents a risk to humans. This includes, but is not limited to, work with potential pathogens, human clinical samples, and primary cell lines.

The Committee conducts these reviews in accordance with the guidance and requirements of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the National Institutes of Health, and the Los Alamos National Laboratory Biosafety Laboratory Implementation Requirement.
