

2019 Fellows Prize Nomination package submission deadline: 5:00 pm, Friday, June 7, 2019 (MST).

The two Fellows Prizes recognize excellence in research and technical leadership, respectively. The institutional goal is to recognize and inspire talented staff into developing the skills and making the personal sacrifices necessary to enable LANL's national security mission and continue our world-class science and technology. These competitive awards enhance the career development of LANL staff.

Both the Research and Leadership prizes are intended to recognize the full breadth of Laboratory accomplishment from basic research to applied mission deliverables. Nominations for the award are reviewed by a committee of Laboratory Fellows, who make recommendations to the Laboratory Director.

Competitive packages require significant lead-time in order to include effective recommendation letters, so an early start is strongly recommended.

Please e-mail nomination packages to Melissa Robinson of the Science Resource Office: mrobinson@lanl.gov, 667-8152. Please address questions about the Prizes to the Fellows Deputy Coordinator, Manvendra K. Dubey, dubey@lanl.gov, 665-3128.
