

The first virtual Supercomputing Institute

Due to COVID-19 the Supercomputing Institute was unable to occur in person, however the staff decided that the show would go on. This talk will cover the challenges of online teaching in the context of provisioning and configuring a Linux based supercomputer, as well as some of the tools and methods that we used to overcome these challenges.

LA-UR-20-25811